

Land Use & Canal Network

Approximate South Florida land use and canal/levee network in 1973 (625x793 m raster grid resolution). The greater Everglades region is shown bounded to the north by the Everglades Agricultural Area (EAA), various urban (and to some extent, agricultural) land use to the east, with the canal & levee network partitioning the system into managed hydrologic basins.

